

Copyright:

1. Copyright

Copyright 2006 Schunk GmbH. All rights reserved. All texts, illustrations, charts and graphs are subject to copyright and other legislation for the protection of private property. They may not be copied for trade purposes or dissemination, nor used in an amended form on other websites (insofar as they are not designated for such use or written approval for such a purpose exists). Any person is authorised to view, exhibit and copy documents from this site for personal, non-commercial purpose, this also applying to the downloading of files designated for such purposes. The express written permission of Schunk GmbH is required for the copying, amending or operation on other servers of parts or extracts of the contents and information in this website.

2. Guarantee

This information is made available by Schunk GmbH without any assurance or guarantee of any description, either express or implied. All tacit guarantees relating to negotiability, suitability for particular purposes or non-violation of legislation and patents are also excluded. The information provided by us can still contain errors or irregularities, even if one assumes that it is correct.

Disclaimer:

We have created links on this site to other sites in the internet. The following applies to all these links: the webmaster of this site expressly declares that he has no influence on the design and contents of the linked sites. We therefore expressly distance ourselves from the contents of linked sites on this website and do not claim these contents as our own property. This declaration applies to all links shown on this website, along with the contents of all sites to which the links lead.